

Rear Window Interface

Amy Darbyshire and Moriah Rodriguez

Purpose of the interface:

To allow users to find scenes they found most funny, suspenseful, jarring, or fascinating.

To allow users to highlight scenes only with their favorite characters

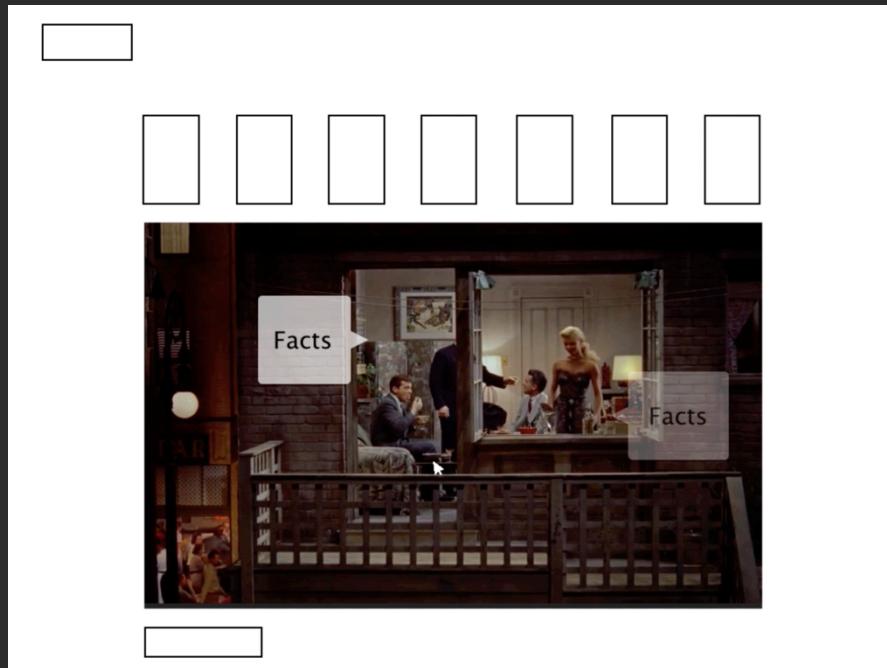

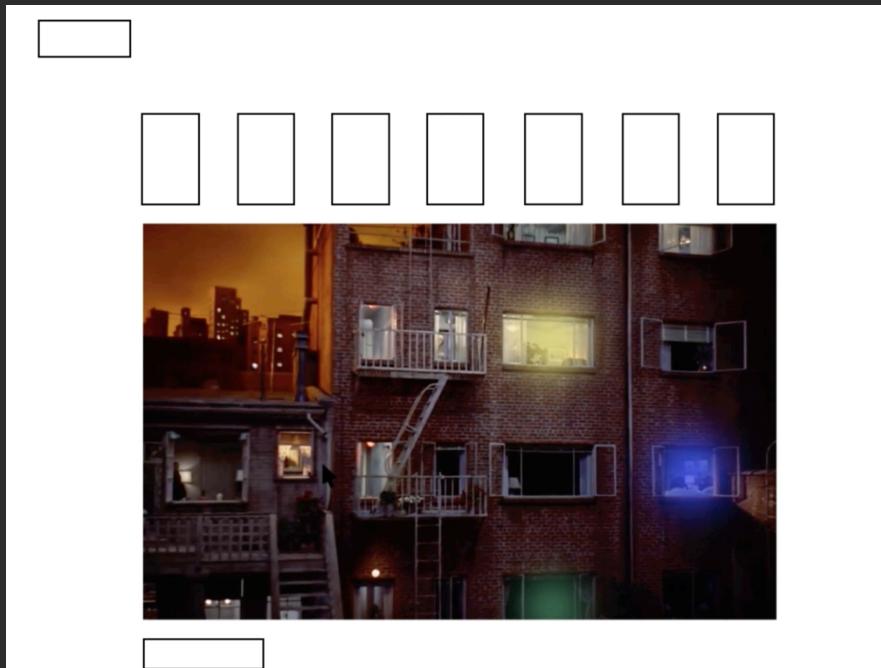

To provide users with an entertaining experience in addition to learning more about the film, how it was made, and how many films were made then and now.

How would one use the interface?

As the user enters the interface, they are presented with an opening scene of a pan of all the apartments in which the characters live. When the user pans through the courtyard, each window will light up when panned upon. The user can then click on the desired window and learn more about

- The actor/actors within the apartment
- How the scene was set
- Hitchcock's vision
- Facts about the time and place in which the scene was taking place

Static example of interface

Facts

Facts

related

Video example of interface

Neighbors

Mrs Lonely Heart
Pills

Mrs Torso

Songwriter

Mr & Mrs Thorwald
His knives
Tied box

Family with dog
Dog

Sculptor

Newlyweds

Alleyway - use of one set/implications of leaving the neighborhood

Jefferies Room

Jefferies

Stella

Lisa

Doyle

Broken Camera

Binoculars/Large Camera - the implications of peeping on people and how it plays a large role in the movie

Phone

Flashbulbs

Front door

Static View of Rear Window

Static View of Jefferies' Room

Filtering

Users would be able to filter through characters, items, colors, windows, etc.

The filter would light up the selected items, showing where these objects are.

Selecting an object/character/window would focus closer on it, giving information about the object/character/etc. It would also link to other things that related to the subject shown.

Other

-Photographer
-Homebound with full leg cast
-Peeps on his neighbors
-Sees something suspicious happen with Mr Thorwald and investigates it further
-Stubbornly refusing to accept Lisa
-etc.

Characters

Colors
Other

Weather

Day/Night